ORGANISATION DESCRIPTION The Croatian Chamber of Economy (CCE) is an independent non-profit professional and business organisation of all legal entities engaging in business. It was established in 1852, organised in European tradition and on the so-called continental model of Austrian and German chambers with compulsory membership. Every company registered with the Commercial Court is a member of the Chamber, and it pays a fee to the Chamber. The CCE consists of the Headquarters in Zagreb and 20 county chambers (Zagreb Chamber is one of these county chambers, representing both the City of Zagreb and Zagreb County). The CCE is run by the Assembly, Management and Supervisory Boards, President, who is elected by the Assembly, and five Vice Presidents. The members of the Supervisory Board and Assembly are elected from among reputable business people. Together with the Chamber’s working bodies, they promote, represent and protect their members’ common interests before governmental authorities home and abroad.
